Fear not she is now and will forever be with you as she coursed through your body & heart and that of your families.

*Oh joyous death
she's taken her last Breath
After living thru trials and tribulations of all men and all Nations
She now travels like the Wind
For her now there's no Beginning or End
She's taken her last Breath
There are many memories of her Left
For she resides with our Lord
Both in one Accord.*

Her love for worship and the arts was evidence by how she lived her life and responded to ministry in motion. We will forever hear you cheering us on Mother. That tambourine will resound in our ears always. Rest in peace. We love you.*

“ Grandma Franklin,
When I first brought my baby to you at 10 weeks, you made sure I knew he was going to be ok. You met me at the car with the carrier and walk with me in. This made me feel better about leaving him all day! You stayed with him and let me know as soon as something was going on when he was sick. Thank you for easing my mind! We became great friends and you took care of me in the mornings as well as you scooted me out the door. Until this last year, you were there! He’s 10 now and you have been there! He would tell me Grandma Franklin went on vacation, so she won’t take us to school next week! 😭 He still ask, I don’t know what to say, so I guess I will just tell him you went on vacation again to get so more rest!! We love you and get your rest!! The Battles)Bryson, Kearsten, Kedra and Rodney) 🐾🐾🐾🐾
