It's been 3 months and it's not a day that goes by that she's not thought about. My mother was strong, loving, kind, and long-suffering. I remember many talks and fund memories that we shared. She loved hard and endured many things. She was raised 7 children and was always thinking about her children's care. She was like a hen gathering her chicks. My was a thoughtful mom that would bring you things you liked. It wasn't until I was older and became saved that I started to understand her life. God granted her prayers before she left and joined Him. I will always love you momma, never forget you, and carry you in my heart. She would always say to me, 'silly girl' when she's laughing with me about something. Telling me to stop making her laugh because she was coughing. Oh mommy, grace, and peace be upon your soul, and you with Christ forevermore. Amen 🙏
