“ My memories of my brother will forever live in my heart. He was a good person, a great dad, a great son and a great brother. He was always a hard worker and always loved to help and take care of people. He went around saving many lives. In my eyes he will always be a hero. I just wish he would of known the impact he was going to have in everybody's life with his passing. I always looked up to you while we were growing up and I will continue to do so. Rest in peace now, Love always your little sister.

“ I am a friend and Army buddy to Gary McMaster Jason's Uncle. The Bible tells us that when we love someone and they suffer then we suffer with them. We all face battles known and unknown, I don't know why this happened but we know the impact Jason made on lives. I can only imagine the lives he saved or helped in his career. Time can be a healer or a thief, as a Pastor I encourage family's to allow time to heal by remembering the good rather than the bad. Jason's memory will live on in you his children and family. Jason can NEVER be replaced but his life and passing can continue to help you and teach you. I deeply grief for you and your loss. Lean on one another, not allowing the dark days to rob you. Yes suicide is a sin, but only God knows the heart. God is also rich in mercy, and one day because of Gods eternal love and mercy you have the hope of seeing your Dad once again.
Sincerely
Pastor Ron Hemphill
