Words still can express the hurt I'm still

“ Te, saying I miss you is an understatement.
It's been 5 months. The absence of you not here is still hurting me. I still think to myself about what if this & that, you would still be here. Te I can write & talk about you everyday, all day! This month has become my least favorite month.
Your birthday is approaching & I'm not ready for it mentally. Your family is still in my prayers because loosing you was tragic to sooo many. Te babii continue to sleep in peace. I miss you truly and deeply my friend!

“ Te it’s going on 3 months & the pain still has not come with ease. I think about you literally DAILY! I ride with your obituary in my car just to feel you close to me. Te you were a great and genuine friend to have. Since you have left I been feeling alone & lost because you always help me make it through my day or the week. Football season has come & it doesn’t feel the same without you. I’ll continue to hold onto and cherish the memories & the bond we shared. I love & miss you dearly. Oh yea, lol thank you for responding back when I talk to you, you have me laughing & crying sometimes. I’m grateful that you have come to visit me. Friend continue to sleep peacefully & watch over us all. My prayers still going for your mother, Kannon and the family.

“ It's been 70 days. If I knew the last time was the last time, nephew I would have held you a little longer. My heart will never be the same. I will cherish your memory. I will cherish those hard times we both got each other through. More than ever I will help take care of your daughter. I love you more than you could ever imagine. Hug my man, Warrick, for me. I know the two of you are together. Forever Auntie

“ I want to send my condolences to the family. Wow! I met Terrence through my husband when he worked at invitation homes.

Cool dude and very funny I remember me and Destiny at the Christmas we had a great time...shortly after she was soon to have a baby coming in October I believe.

Our daughters are a couple of months apart. I can't fathom this information I received on this Afternoon. My prayers are with the his mom cause Terrence was her baby! I hope you all and his daughter can remember the good times you all had with him. Blessings and lots of hugs to you all.

“ Finding out the way I did, breaks my heart. You were my first male best friend, my human diary and my go to for advice on any and everything. So sorry I wasn't there for you as much as I should have. I'll always remember everything you taught me and will continue to live by our codes! Thankful to have a million memories of us!! I love you Best1! Continue resting ☐🙏

“ Te Baby, it’s still hard trying to accept the fact that you’re no longer here with us physically but only spiritually. It’s been a month already & I still hate the fact that I have to face reality. I know you’re watching over you mother, Kannon, Billy & the family. Just wanted to stop by & let you know, you haven’t been forgotten. You been on my mind DAILY. I ride & talk with you every day (I kept your obituary in my car). I’m not sure if I want to burn the candles you got me, when I’m sitting & thinking about you or keep them for now. You are truly missed baby. I’ll continue to cherish the memories we shared. Mama Terri, Billy, Kannon & family y’all will continue to be in my prayers. Rest Up my Te Baby 🤍🙏.

“ Mama Terri I know it's not anything I or anyone can say during this time to bring you out this tragic moment or to bring Terrance back. I want to send my condolences & prayers to you, Kannon and Destiney along with more family that is effective by this loss. We're all in a disbelief shock during this time. I know with prayer & time it will help with the absence of him physically but he will always be here spiritually. He's rest now in peace & now is your personal guardian angel. Just continue to talk to him, he hears you. 💚🙏
